A FREE-AND-EASY LOVE FAMILY IS SENATOR CLARK'S.

The announcement of the marriage of W. A. Clark, Jr., the son of former Senator Clark, will create considerable interest in Nevada, when it is known that the bride is a sister of Edward McManus, of Virginia City, and by reason of the further fact that she is the former wife of Marco J. Medin, of Butte, from whom she was divorced last November.

Her marriage with young Clark has a touch of the romantic about it for he knew her but a few days prior to the ceremony. It was a case of love at first sight,—William A., Jr., falling head over ears when they met, and the young woman losing her heart after earnest importunities.

There was a touch of the romantic about her marriage with Medin. This occurred about seven years ago. The pair framed up the match and went to Salt Lake City, where the ceremony was performed, strictly on the quiet it being the intention of both husband and wife to keep the matter secret.

But a reporter for a Salt Lake City newspaper discovered Marco's name on the register of the Hotel Knutsford, and, scenting a story, first pumped the clerk of the caravansary and then confronted Marco with the fact that he knew enough of the affair to make a good story, and invited the bridegroom to "come through" with the finishing touches. Marco did so, and the next day the pair left for Butte.

The two sons of Senator Clark have been wedded twice. The first wife of William A., Jr., died in giving birth to William A. III, the famous "million dollar baby."

Charlie wedded a stenographer in the Clark bank at Butte, a very handsome girl, and she died two or three years ago in California. Charlie did not remain in a state of single blessedness longer than has his brother.

A sister, living in New York, has been married twice, so that the sons of the Senator have had two wives and the daughter two husbands, while the Senator himself has been married twice.

There was a touch of the novelistic in the Senator's second marriage which occurred in France and was kept secret for nearly a year. She was his ward, and had musical ambitions and went to Europe to study. The Senator arranged to meet her at Marseilles and they were united there. The birth of a handsome boy precluded the keeping of the secret any longer and the marriage and its date were promptly made public.—Goldfield Review.

BRIEF AND BREEZY.

Bellamy Storer is to summer at Back Bay. Quite appropriate for a back number.

Texas leaves the contention for recognition as the "garden spot" of the country, to other states. It is content to be the watermelon patch of the world.

Things have reached a curious stage in this country when in a three cornered meeting between the governors of N. C., S. C., and Connecticut, the latter is the only gentleman who will take anything stronger than lemonade.

"The Republican party always tells the truth," says Senator Depew. "Rah, for the Senator! He has actually perpetrated a real sure enough joke at last!"

Mr. Bryan's declaration that there should be no quarrel among people with a common purpose in life may encourage Mr. Carnegie a little in his peace ambition.

Possibly Mr. Roosevelt could command more popular attention for his refusal to be a candidate if he could put it in the form of an epigram.
